PAIR OF FOUR BAGGERS

Devore Raps One Into Stand and Snodgrass Belts the Other.

As all the other first division teams won yesterday it behooved the Giants to do no less, and therefore they tacked another defeat on the trailing Reds. The Brooklyns fell before the Chicago broadside, while in Philadelphia and Boston extraining games were played. The Pirates won in the eleventh from the Bostons and the Phillies conquered the Cardinals in the tenth.

The Giants, with the willing assistant of the Reds, hoisted their 1912 champion- New York ... ship emblem on the pennant pole at the Polo Grounds yesterday, then with the unwilling assistance of the Reds they hoisted the latter on the prongs of a defeat. The Giants won by a score of 4 to 2, and a good, snappy game it was with the hoary but thoroughly hale vetant Matty and Brownie feuding on the Troops of boy scouts deployed through the postern gate shortly before 3 o'clock and led by a band stepped off evolutions across the field, while groups of spectators who had deployed through the turnstile gates at 25, 50 and 75 a deploy straight-ened up and cheered the long columns of ened up and cheered t khaki clad youngsters.

and Secretary Foster met the party in centre field and Lynch, with the grass as restrum, presented the pennant with an address which if not delivered with Ciceronian effect was pithy. The president, somewhat delled up in a diahanous summer suit and wearing a pur and National, won by the Giants in '88, '89, '04, '05, '11 and '12, was set affoat, and the Boy Scouts scrambled into the stand where they scouted for foul balls considerable pummelling, but the propor-tion of scoring to the hitting was scant. The two old stagers were both fine in pinches. That's one reason why the scoring was light. Matty had better support than his honorable adversary. It was worth while to see the two, not a black mark against either as somebody observed, coolly and sagaclously to about extricating themselves from difficulties. looked as one time as if Brown would batted from the box, but he steadled and the pitcher who was sent out to warm up wasn't called upon. An error by Devore opened the way to two of New York's runs, the Giants, on the other hand, accepting all but one field off Matty came the same way. The Giants were pold and fast on the bases, except once when a headless rush by Meyera closed a possible outlet for more scoring. The Chief, however, threw to bases so straight and swift that he turned back runners by yards. He's been throwing that way lately, getting 'em standing up.

Matty was in a tight place in the third inning. Kling singled and Brown hit to Matty, who, eager to make a double play, fumbled. Nobody was out, but Devore stopped the wheels of progress with a pop bunt to Matty. Bescher forced Brown and then got in the way of Marsans's grounder. ingled and Fletcher doubled.

two out. He undertook to go to second when Snodgrass fielded the ball quickly to Merkle and was rebuffed by Merkle's neat relay to Fletcher. The fourth for the yield. Murray opened with a single and Meyers, after a monster drive into the left field seats, which was foul by inches. whaled another monster over Bescher's head. As Murray had to tarry to see whether the hit would be caught, he trav-elled no further than third.

Still there were two on bases and none Snodgrass, who made a hit every time up, took this occasion to strike out. Matty chipped a short fly to Devore and Murray bluffed at going home. It was no biuff to Meyers, however. The Chief lowered his leoning head and plunged for lowered his leonine head and plunged for third. At McGraw's sharp cry of warning he looked up, hurriedly viewed the land-scape o'er and tried to get back to second Kling had him penned and Murray drew the play on himself by edging toward the holes at Club, Some, 5th Ave. Bidg., 9 to 12 A. definitely for remarks made to Impire Hildebrand after the latter's ruling on Monday deprived him of credit for a spectacular double play in the fifth, depriving Kling of a three bagger. In the sixth Devore mel one he liked and shot a long home run into the right field stand. Bescher doubled, Marsans sacrificed and Dodge singled and scored Bescher. The Reds were one ahead, but the Glants at once regained the lead. Devore dropped a deep fly from Merkle, and with a diving, scraping, snaky slide Merkle beat the throw in to second. Murray sacrificed and Meyers singled Merkle home. The Chief died stealing, but Snodgrass singled to short. Matty singled through short on the hit and run, on which Tinker was drawn over, and when Tinker made a wide throw to first, which pulled Hobby off the bag and gave Burns a life, Snodgrass scored.

Shafer jumped and killed a base hit for Tinker in the seventh. The Reds hit safely in every inning but one, but in the last three their hits were scat-tered. The Giants hit Brown safely in tered. The Glants hit Brown safely in every inning. Snodgrass rapped him for a home run in the ninth, a drive to right centre, which was poorly played by Devore and Marsans. Hobby's single in the ninth was the last Red hit, and he and Tinker were closed up by the Glants with a double play. The score:

To-day's Schedule.

New York in Cleveland. Philadelphia in Chicago. Boston in Detroit. Washington in St. Louis

St. Louis, July 15.—The Browns made it three out of four from the New Yorks by taking to-day's game by a score of 3 to 0. Only one hit was made off Earl Hamilton, a single by Peckinpaugh in the fifth inning. Only two New Yorkers got as far as third base, where both of them expired. Both times they reached that point with two out and the third man failed to deliver. Two wild pitches by Keating accounted for the first two runs of the locals, while the third came as the result of a triple and a sacrifice fly.

Ed Walsh Holds Red Sox Safe

CHICAGO, July 15.—Ed Walsh came back to-day and beat the Red Sox 2 to 1 in ten innings. He held the hard hitting world's champions to seven hits and would have shut them out but for the errors of Buck Weaver. He made three misplays. So did Heine Wagner. The difference was that none of Heine's counted in the scoring. Walsh's one base on balls in the tenth round was intentional. He handed it to Speaker, who was hitting him hard and who came up in the pinch with a runner

Johnson Suspends Cobb Indefinitely

CHICAGO, July 15.—President Ban Johnson of the American League to-day announced the indefinite suspension of Tyrus Cobb of the Detroit club for his run in with Umpire Hildebrand during vesterday's Athletics-Tigers game. Cobb had completed a double play in the ninth inning on a fly ball which he claimed to have caught and which would have ended the game, but Hildebrand ruled that the ball was "trapped." the decision allowing Philadelphia to tie the score. Cobb directed heated remarks at Hildebrand and to-day's suspension followed.

NOTES OF THE DIAMOND.

Red Murray has gently jostled the ball for eleven hits in his last four games. This Hamilton home who eased the New Yorks down with one base hit yesterday pitched a no hit game last year. It's no fault of the Cardinais that they haven't dropped into last place on this trip. They have lost seven out of eight and would be there but for the rebuff given the Reds in New York. be there but for the rebuff given the Reds in New York.

Umpire Bill Kiem is a neat and tidy person. He pays close attention to the home plate to see that it is kept clean and white. A lightning calculator figured yesterday that Matty pitched only sixty-eight balls. Just to show how the national game can go to extremes Brown of the Athletics pitched at least sixty to the fifteen men he walked last Sunday. ast Sunday.

Southpaw Russell came to the White Sox by draft from a Texas team and Comiskey and Calianan had no idea what a prize they and Calianan had no idea what a prize they had picked up. From practical obscurity Russell broke in with about all the qualities of a first class pitcher.

Hooper of the Red Sox recently came to but in three successive innings and in each of the three made a base hit.

It is said that Schang of the Athletics can bat equally well right or left handed, but pitchers won't worry unduly until he learns to do it simultaneously.

The Cincinnait pitchers have been interfering with Larry Doyle's efforts to climb into the 300 class. He hasn't made a hit in this series.

Callahan Flies Out for Ragan and Then Stack Comes in for Hard Drubbing.

With many baseball notables looking on Ebbets Field was dedicated yesterday and the Cubs walloped the Dodgers, 9 to 6. President Ebbets sent out invitations to practically every magnate in the major and minor leagues. Among those who were present were Ban Johnson, president of the American League; Robert McRoy, secretary of the Red Sox: President Barrow of the International League, President Frank J. Fartional League, President Frank J. Far-rell of the New York Americans, J. Walter Spalding, Julian W. Curtiss, Ex-Borough President Steers, George Solomon, presi-dent of the Newark club, and many

Although they sent word to reserve boxes for them C. A. Comiskey of the White Sox, C. W. Murphy of the Cubs, August Herrmann of the Reds and James E. Gaffney of the Boston Nationals failed to appear. Mr. Gaffney telephoned at the last moment that he was suffering from an attack of rheumatism. Probably 6,000 fans also were on hand.

the Dodgers' defeat. In the sixth inning Dahlen sent Callahan up to bat for Ragan, who had been pitching good bail, with the result that Stack, who occupied the box thereafter, couldn't keep the Chicago clan in check. The fans therefore insisted that if Ragan, who had made a clean base hit off Cheney, had been retained on the mound there might have been a different outcome.

Saier, who was a demon at the bat, Saler, who was a demon at the bat, made Chicago's first run when he lifted the ball over the right field barrier for a homer in the second inning. Three more runs for the Cubs were chalked up in the third inning. Phelan, first up, scratched a hit to Ragan. Saler put him on third with a slashing base hit to cen-tre, and when Ragan failed to head off Phelan at third on Mitchell's tap the bags were covered. Moran muffed Corrider's fly, but forced Mitchell at second and Phelan ran home. As Corriden started to steal Fischer threw the ball ten feet over Cutshaw's head and Saler counted. Leach opened the fifth with a single to centre, and rushed to second as Meyer made a throw to Daubert to catch Tommy off first. Evers sacrificed and Leach scored the Cubs's fifth tally on Schulte's timely bingle to right. Cheney, meanwhile was a puzzle, holding the Dodgers runless with three hits. But in the sixth he began to waver and handed passes to Meyer and Wheat.
